What should I attend?

```
EF114[1]L1/04
 GLA.QG13
Lecture
 1-6, 8-12
EF114[1] Introduction to Macroeconomics

During registration you will register for core (mandatory) and perhaps some optional modules.

On opentimetable.dcu.ie your Programme timetable shows everything scheduled for your Programme. You should only attend what you are registered for.

Your module codes will be on your registration schedule which you can find here: dcu.ie/registry/registration-schedules-search

In the above example:

— EF114[1]L1/04 is an activity scheduled on the timetable

— EF114 is the module code for Introduction to Macroeconomics

— [1] is semester 1, during semester 2 this will appear as [2]

— L1 = Lecture 1 (These can be T (Tutorials), P (Practicals) etc)

— /04 = Group 4, You will be contacted by your faculty/school allocating you to a group

— 1-6, 8-12 indicate the weeks of the academic year the activity will be taught

Finding your way…

A location code is made up of the Campus code, followed by the building, followed by the floor, followed by the room number e.g. GLA.QG13 Campus Codes are:

GLA = Glasnevin Campus
SPD = St Patricks Campus
SPD.AHC = All Hallows Campus

The first letter on the location indicates the Building/Block listed on the campus map.

The second digit indicates the Floor i.e. G = Ground, 1 = 1st, 2 = 2nd etc.

The remaining digits are the room number on that floor.

GLA.QG13, is room 13 on the ground floor of the Business School on the Glasnevin campus.

For building codes, you can view the campus maps here: dcu.ie/info/campus.shtml
