

The Adult Learner

The Irish Journal of Adult and Community Education

Call for Papers - 2017 Edition

The Adult Learner is the Irish Journal of adult and community education founded in the mid-1980s. The Journal's objective is to continue to make knowledge, research and writing accessible to the widest possible audience and emphasis the implications of critical reflection on the practices of teaching and learning.

The Journal welcomes papers which are relevant to those working across the broad field of adult and community education and that make a contribution to debates both in Ireland and internationally.

The Adult Learner aims primarily to serve the needs of the adult education community in Ireland by providing a forum for critical reflection on the practices of teaching and learning.

In the 2017 issue of the Adult Learner we hope to have a focus around: Quality in Adult and Community Education. Further information on the 2017 call for papers will be available on the AONTAS website from October 2016.

Considering Submitting?

The Adult Learner is open to articles which engage in the critical debate of both practice and theory based papers. The Journal also accepts critiques or responses to topics from previous issues.

General Guidelines

1. Relate to the broad aims of the Journal and be relevant to the field of adult and community education.
2. Provide evidence of a coherent and focused argument that's supported by robust evidence.

3. Outline and explain any methodology used.
4. Be contextualised for an international audience (eg explain use of acronyms).
5. Be submitted in the format outlined (see separate guidance, available at: www.aontas.com).
6. Begin with a short abstract (max 100 words).
7. Include a reference section which refers only to articles mentioned in the text.
