Introduction

Dublin City University (www.dcu.ie) is a research-intensive, globally-engaged, dynamic institution that is distinguished by both the quality and impact of its graduates and its focus on the translation of knowledge into societal and economic benefit. DCU prepares its students well for success in life, and in the workplace, by providing a high-quality, rounded education appropriate to the challenges and opportunities of the 21st century. As Ireland’s University of Enterprise and Transformation, DCU is characterised by a focus on innovation and entrepreneurship and a track-record of effective engagement with the enterprise sector, including commercial, social and cultural enterprises. Excellence in its education and research activities has led to DCU’s consistent position in the rankings of the world’s top young universities (e.g. QS top 100 Under 50). DCU has a strong track record in attracting both Irish and European Union funding under FP7, Horizon 2020, Marie Curie Actions and Erasmus. We offer a dynamic and internationally focused environment in which to advance your academic career.

The School of Law and Government:

The School of Law and Government offers programmes in Law both at undergraduate and graduate level, including a BCL (recognised by the Honorable Society of King’s Inns as an approved law degree), a BA in Economics, Politics and Law, law as a Joint Honours BA subject, a LLM, a MA in European Law and Policy, and a PhD programme. It also offers a MA in Data Protection and Privacy Law jointly with the School of Computing. The School has a particular interest in socio-legal studies and promotes interdisciplinary research, through the DCU Brexit Institute and Law Research Centre. The School is committed to high quality research, expects its staff to publish regularly in leading journals and supports its staff in such work. We have led research programmes supported by the Irish Research Council, the EU and other national and international funders.
The School of Law and Government intends to appoint a new Assistant Professor in Law, on a permanent contract, to begin on 1 September 2020. We especially welcome applicants with a strong international research profile.

Skills and Experience

Applicants for the position must hold an honours degree and should have completed or submitted a PhD.

The successful candidate will have substantial experience of university teaching. We are interested in applicants with all research specialisms, but have particular teaching requirements in company and commercial law, the law of real property, contract, tort, and clinical legal education, and therefore are interested in applicants with a willingness to do some teaching in those areas, while also teaching from their research specialisation and interests.

The successful candidate will be able to convincingly demonstrate a strong dedication to academic research and should have a track-record of international peer-reviewed publications. The successful candidate should be capable of working in a team and contributing to developing the teaching and research agenda within the School, as well as assisting with the School’s fund-raising activities through grant applications.

Duties and Responsibilities:
Please refer to the job description for a full list of all duties and responsibilities associated with this role.

Mandatory training:

The postholder will be required to undertake the following mandatory compliance training: Orientation, Health & Safety, and Data Protection (GDPR). Other training may need to be undertaken when appropriate.
