

Dublin City University
Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences
School of Law and Government
Lecturers in Law
2 posts (Fixed term contracts of up to 5 years)

Introduction

Dublin City University (www.dcu.ie) is a research-intensive, globally-engaged, dynamic institution. Excellence in its education and research activities has led to its consistent position in the rankings of the world's top young universities (e.g. QS top 50 Under 50).

Law at Dublin City University has been a rapidly growing discipline and as part of the university's commitment to this development the School of Law and Government intends to appoint two new Lecturers in Law. The appointments will commence on 1 September 2017. While we welcome all good applicants the school has particular needs in the broad field of private law, (including the law of property, torts, contract), as well as company law (including corporate, business and competition law) and that may be a factor in short-listing and in final decision. Applicants who have familiarity with either European private law or comparative company law, including corporate regulation in the European Union and its member states are particularly welcome to apply.

DCU has a strong track record in attracting both Irish and European Union funding under FP7, Horizon 2020, Marie Curie Actions and Erasmus. We offer a dynamic and internationally focused environment in which to advance your academic career.

Law at DCU

The School of Law and Government offers successful taught programmes in Law, including our BCL (recognised by the Honorable Society of King's Inns as an approved law degree), the BA in Economics, Politics and Law, Law as a subject in the BA (Joint Honours), along with LLM and PhD programmes.

The School has a particular interest in socio-legal studies, is committed to high quality research, expects its staff to publish regularly in leading journals and supports its staff in such work. We have led research programmes supported by the Irish Research Council, the EU and other national and international funders.

Skills and Experience

Applicants for the position must hold an honours degree, should be qualified to a postgraduate level and must have completed a doctoral qualification in law, or show proof of being about to complete it. More information on the requirements for the post can be seen at <http://dcu.ie/hr/vacancies/current.shtml>
