Fostóir comhdheiseanna is ea Ollscoil Chathair Bhaile Átha Cliath

Lecturer in Irish
Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences
Fiontar & Scoil na Gaeilge
Fixed-Term Contract of up to 5 Years

Introduction

Dublin City University (www.dcu.ie) is a research-intensive, globally-engaged, dynamic institution that is distinguished by both the quality and impact of its graduates and its focus on the translation of knowledge into societal and economic benefit. DCU prepares its students well for success in life and in the workplace by providing a high-quality, rounded education appropriate to the challenges and opportunities of the 21st century. As Ireland's University of Enterprise, it is characterised by a focus on innovation and entrepreneurship and a track-record of effective engagement with the enterprise sector, including commercial, social and cultural enterprises. Excellence in its education and research activities has led to its consistent position in the rankings of the world's top young universities. DCU has been placed in the top 50 international universities under 50 years old in the recent QS 'Top 50 Under 50' rankings.

Fiontar & Scoil na Gaeilge is a research-intensive school which offers a range of programmes at BA, MA and PhD level with a strong focus on teaching, research and digital humanities. DCU is now seeking to appoint a Lecturer in Irish (fixed-term contract of up to five years) from 1 September 2017. Applicants should have a doctoral qualification and specialist expertise in the teaching of Irish at university level as well as one or more of the following areas, as this will be a factor in short-listing and final selection: contemporary Irish literature, literary criticism, applied linguistics, language policy and planning, translation studies, or Irish language media/journalism.

DCU Incorporation Programme

Dublin City University is growing and 2016 saw a significant transformation for the University. The DCU Incorporation Programme saw the coming together of St Patrick's College, Drumcondra, Mater Dei Institute of Education and Church of Ireland College of Education with Dublin City University. It brought together all the Humanities and Social Science disciplines at DCU, St Patrick's College and Mater Dei Institute in an enlarged Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences with almost 200 staff.

Fiontar & Scoil na Gaeilge

Fiontar & Scoil na Gaeilge is a multidisciplinary School widely recognised for the quality of its programmes and for the innovative nature of the teaching and research undertaken by its staff. The School has two undergraduate programmes, BA Gnó agus Gaeilge and BA Gaeilge agus Iriseoireacht, two taught postgraduate programmes, MA i Léann na Gaeilge and MSc i nGnó agus i dTeicneolaíocht an Eolais, as well as a PhD programme. Staff also contribute to the BA Joint Honours Programme within the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, as well as the BEd and Professional Master's in Education (Primary) programmes in the DCU Institute of Education. The successful candidate will be expected to play a role in the development and delivery of the School's taught programmes and in the identification and delivery of new modules and programmes as appropriate. The School offers excellent opportunities for candidates to teach within their own area of research specialization and is currently growing its cohort of PhD candidates.

The School is committed to high quality research and supports its staff in such work. We have a highly successful track record in attracting external funding to support a range of research projects at the interface between the Irish language and digital humanities, e.g. ainm.ie, duchas.ie, Fáilte ar Líne, gaois.ie, iate.europa.eu, logainm.ie, speakapps.eu, and tearma.ie.

Skills and Experience

Applicants should have PhD in a relevant area. The successful candidate will have an excellent research and publications record. He/she must have at least three years' relevant experience, appropriate higher-level teaching experience and a proven ability to interact with academic and non-academic partners. The successful candidate should be capable of working as part of a team and should be self-motivated, flexible and adaptable in working across different areas of academic activity within the School.

Duties and Responsibilities

The duties and responsibilities of the position include, but are not limited to the following:

- teach modules in language and literature at undergraduate and postgraduate level;
- pursue an active research agenda with ongoing research publications in leading international academic journals and with high-profile book publishers, both individually and, where appropriate, in collaboration with colleagues in DCU and elsewhere;
- supervise postgraduate research students;
- participate actively in School activities and contribute to the development of the School's profile in teaching and research;
- undertake administrative duties related to the position.
