

School of Law and Government

Research Seminars in Politics and International Relations, Semester II, 2017-18

Wednesdays, 1-2 pm, CG11, Henry Grattan Building

January 31. Maura Conway, DCU. 'Terrorism and the Internet'

February 7. Chris Raymond, Queen's University Belfast. 'Socioeconomic Development and Multiparty Competition: Evidence from Botswana'

February 14. Valesca Lima, University College Dublin. 'Alternative housing models: Governance and community self-management in Brazil'

February 21. James Fitzgerald, DCU. 'Confronting the Terrorist/Refugee Narrative: Human Stories of Resistance'

February 28. Paola Rivetti, DCU. 'How to think and study political participation in authoritarian systems. A work in progress'

March 7. Alex Baturo, DCU. 'United Nations General Assembly Debate'

March 14. Reading Week – NO SEMINAR

March 21. Cristina Bucur, University College Dublin and Petra Schleiter, University of Oxford. 'Assembly dissolution powers and incumbency advantages in government formation'

March 28. Lisa Keenan, Trinity College Dublin. 'Gender differences in political career progression: evidence from the Republic of Ireland'

April 4. International Studies Association and Mid-West Political Science Association Conferences – NO SEMINAR

April 11. Aytan Gahramanova, DCU. 'The Role of the Local Think Tanks in Restrictive Political Systems: Case study of Azerbaijan'

April 18. Chris O'Connell, DCU. 'Policy Switches and Civil Society in Latin America: Evidence from Ecuador's Food Sovereignty Policy'