Dublin City University

Dublin City University (DCU) is a young, ambitious and vibrant university, with a mission ‘to transform lives and societies through education, research, innovation and engagement’. Known as Ireland’s ‘University of Enterprise’, DCU is a values-based institution, committed to the delivery of impact for the public good. DCU was named Sunday Times Irish University of the Year 2021.

DCU is based on three academic campuses in the Glasnevin-Drumcondra region of north Dublin. More than 18,000 students are enrolled across five faculties – Science and Health, DCU Business School, Computing and Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences and DCU Institute of Education.

DCU is committed to excellence across all its activities. This is demonstrated by its world-class research initiatives, its cutting-edge approach to teaching and learning, its focus on delivering a transformative student experience, and its positive social and economic impact. The university continues to develop innovative programmes in collaboration with industry, such as the DCU Futures suite of degrees, which are designed to equip graduates with the skills and knowledge required in a rapidly evolving economy.

DCU’s pursuit of excellence has led to its current ranking among the top 2% of universities globally. It is also one of the world’s Top Young Universities (QS Top 100 Under 50, Times Higher Top 150 Under 100). In the Times Higher Education University Impact Rankings 2021, DCU ranked 23rd in the world for its approach to widening participation in higher education and its ongoing commitment to eradicating poverty, while it ranks 38th globally for its work in reducing inequality and 89th globally for gender equality.

The university is ranked 23rd in the world and first in Ireland for its graduate employment rate, according to the 2020 QS Graduate Employability Rankings. Over the past decade, DCU has been the leading Irish university in the area of technology transfer, as reflected by licensing of intellectual property.

Overview of the department

DCU is committed to underpinning all of its activities with sustainability, across Teaching and Learning, Research, Development and Innovation, our own operations and in our engagements with external partners. We are working to demonstrate leadership in tackling the climate change and biodiversity emergency challenge and have published an ambitious and challenging DCU Sustainability Charter and Climate Action Plan. This plan identifies a pathway for DCU to meet the legally binding targets for Greenhouse Gas (GHG) emission reductions to 2030 as set out in the Climate Action and Low Carbon
Dev. (Amendment) Bill 2021. In addition, as a public sector body DCU is now mandated under the National Climate Action Plan to undertake sustainability actions to reduce our impacts.

The DCU Sustainability Office work with internal and external stakeholder to communicate, inform and engage on the challenges we face and in the identification and implementation of sustainable solutions that can be demonstrated on our campus and then scaled for broader impact.
