 - PhD students Year 1-4. Student who have completed four years of their studies may also be considered eligible for support on a case-by-case basis.
2. Students with a previous higher education qualification/period of attendance can be considered for support.
3. The DCU Student Assistance Fund is in the first instance, a means tested fund. The eligibility income is up to €65,000 (total family income). For students under 23, this will be the parents/guardians plus any income the student, he/she, may have. For students over 23, who are dependent on their parents/guardians, this will be the parents/guardians income along with any income the student, he/she, may have. For students over 23, not dependent on parents/guardian, this will be the student's income plus partner/spouse's income where applicable.
4. Income is less than expenditure.
5. Online application to be completed.
4. All supporting documentation uploaded to online application.
5. Students do not have to be in receipt of a SUSI grant to be eligible to apply.
6. Students can only apply once within an academic year and if successful, the awarded sum is a once off payment.
7. International/non-EU fee-paying students are not eligible for funding.
8. Students who are non-EU nationals, but who are eligible for free or reduced fees in line with the criteria for the Free Fees Initiative may be considered for the SAF subject to meeting the criteria outlined above.
