Culture Night 2019

DCU St Patrick's Campus

Friday, 20 September

DCU St Patrick's Campus will open its doors to the public for Culture Night 2019. Come explore this remarkable and historic campus in the heart of Drumcondra. Take a tour of the modern library building with magnificent panoramic views over Dublin. View exhibitions of rare books and readings. Enjoy storytelling, live music and children's activities from the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences and Oifig na Gaeilge.

A cultural treat for all ages.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Cregan Library

The library will be a hive of activity on the night.

- Live Music: Brew Mbirika
- Library tours in English and Irish
- Open mic poetry
- Dadaist poetry
- An exhibition of selected gems from our special collection and archives
- Fun activities for children
- Storytime for children (bean bags available!)
- Panoramic views of Dublin from the library balcony

Seomra Caidrimh agus Oifig na Gaeilge DCU

Buail isteach ag an Seomra Caidrimh - Beidh ceol, comhrá agus comhlúadar ann.

Beidh tuilleadh imeachtaí le fógairt ar na meáin shóisialta @VivaLaGaeilge agus ar dcu.ie/oifignagaeilge

School of Communications

"Manuscripts Don't Burn: Censorship, Samizdat and the Curious Life of Mikhail Bulgakov's Master and Margarita"

A talk about the many strange lives of books and the act of reading as resistance by Dr Tanya Lokot, Assistant Professor in Media Studies, DCU.

Brew Mbirika

Brew is the singer and guitarist for popular Dublin band Bluesun. His journey and ultimate decision to move to Dublin is the subject of the recent documentary "Brew'd in Dublin" (available online). A homecoming show of sorts, Brew is remembered fondly as a charismatic graduate of DCU St Patrick's Campus.

School of English

(In conjunction with the Irish Research Council funded Planet Ocean Workshop)

A multi-language reading of Arthur Rimbaud's Le Bateau Ivre - often considered one of the great French modernist poems - in not only the original French but in English, Dutch and other languages. Copies of the various translations will be available on the night for the audience to follow along or even join in! Readers for this unique event include Dr Kit Fryatt and Dr Michael Hinds.

Scríbhneoir Cónaithe DCU, Réaltán Ní Leannáin

Ag léamh a gearrscéal Sioscadh ar na seilfeanna nó Teann Ailbhe ar strae sa leabharlann!
