Culture Night 2018
DCU St Patrick’s Campus
Friday, 21 September

DCU St Patrick’s Campus will open its doors to the public for Culture Night 2018. Enjoy a tour of the Cregan Library with magnificent views over Dublin. View exhibitions of rare books and readings. Enjoy performing groups, dance, drama, music and art-making workshops from the DCU Institute of Education, and activities from the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. A cultural treat for all ages.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Natalya O’Flaherty
Spoken Word

Natalya is an emerging voice on the Irish spoken word scene. In her short 18 years she’s played all over Dublin, from the dankest of dive bars to our very own National Concert Hall and GPO. Her words carry hard hitting notions and criticisms of modern Ireland, tackling everything from so-called daddy issues to drug abuse. She’s found her voice through the cheap rhymes and hard hitting nature of spoken word.

Cregan Library

The library will be a hive of activity on the night. This year there will be a particular focus on spoken word and poetry.

— Spoken word: Natalya O’Flaherty
— Library tours in English and Irish
— Open mic poetry
— An exhibition of selected gems from the special collection and archives
— Fun activities for children
— Panoaromic views of Dublin from the library balcony

All this will be supplemented by the delightful sounds of a jazz ensemble as visitors enjoy the various events and activities.

School of Arts Education and Movement,
DCU Institute of Education

Sing and More Workshop: An interactive workshop for 4 – 7 year olds and their guardians.

Make and Show: Drop in art workshop for primary age children.

School of History and Geography

Dr Ruth McManus, School of History and Geography, is delighted to offer two campus tours this year. Included in the tour is a visit to the historic Belvedere House, a building with a rich history dating from the 1600s.
