

Workshop Title:

Using Social Bookmarking for Education: Diigo

Date: 13.00 – 14.00 12 February 2013

Venue: Online via the Virtual Classroom (Please note you will receive access to the virtual session after registration).

Workshop Overview:

Social Bookmarking is the a process that is enabled by Web 2.0 tools to allow users to store, classify/tag, organise and share a variety of web resources. This workshop will explore the possible uses and benefits of social bookmarking for research, collaboration and education purposes. In addition, it will introduce the basic features of the Diigo social bookmarking tool and show an example of how it can be used in teaching.

Learning Outcomes:

On completion of this workshop you will be able to:

- Consider how social bookmarking can be used to support research, teaching and learning.
- Understand the capabilities and potential of the Diigo social bookmarking tool and setup your own account/educators account.

Workshop Participants:

This workshop is open LI501 module participants and DCU staff. It is suitable for anyone who is interested in using social bookmarking to enhance their teaching and learning practices.

Registration & Advance Preparation:

You must register here: <http://liuworkshop12feb.eventbrite.ie/> to participate in this workshop. After registration and prior to the workshop you will receive access to the virtual session by email. In order to participate in the session, you will require access to a PC/laptop with Internet access & you must use a headset with a microphone.

Workshop Facilitator:

This workshop will be facilitated by

Leone Gately,
Learning Innovation Unit,
Dublin City University