

Workshop Title, Date & Venue:

Design Effective Assessments: Reflective Writing

10.30 – 12.00 - 23 November 2012 Online via the Virtual Classroom (You will receive access to the virtual session after registration).

Workshop Overview:

Reflective writing “allows students to record thoughts and insights about their own learning experience. It encourages students to review and consolidate learning, to evaluate performance, to plan future learning based on past learning experience. In such a way, students become capable to take charge of their own learning, and eventually to develop into independent lifelong learners” (from the Teaching and Learning Centre at Hong Kong Polytechnic University). I will discuss strategies for using and assessing reflective writing.

Learning Outcomes:

On completion of this workshop you will be able to:

- Recognise what effective reflective writing looks like and how to scaffold that process
- Characterize a good strategy for assessing reflective writing

Workshop Participants:

This workshop is suitable for any lecturer who is interested in learning more about using reflective writing in their assessments to improve student learning and performance.

Registration & Advance Preparation:

You must register here by November 21st: <http://liuworkshop23nov.eventbrite.ie/> to participate in this workshop; places are limited and will be allocated on first come first served basis. After registration and prior to the workshop you will receive access to the virtual session by email. In order to participate in the session you require access to a PC/laptop with Internet access & a headset with a microphone.

Workshop Facilitator:

This workshop will be facilitated by Dr. Eloise Tan, Teaching and Learning Developer, Learning Innovation Unit, Dublin City University