

INFORMATION ON ACADEMIC DRESS

PhD graduands wear a red gown with navy sleeves, a hood with gold-coloured lining, and a bonnet with a gold tassel.

GOWNS

Master's graduands wear a black gown with glove (closed) sleeves. All other graduands wear a black gown with wing (bell-shaped) sleeves.

MORTAR BOARDS

The wearing of a mortar board is optional for both Male and Female graduands.

HOODS

Graduands on undergraduate and Master's degree programmes wear a hood which falls behind the shoulders. The Master's degree hood is longer at the back than the undergraduate degree hood. The edging band on the Master's hood is normally about one inch thicker than the edging band on the undergraduate hood.

EPITOGES

Graduands on certificate and diploma programmes wear an epitoge (a strip of material worn over the left shoulder). In the case of undergraduate certificates, the epitoge has one stripe. In the case of undergraduate diplomas, the epitoge has two stripes. In the case of graduate certificates, the epitoge has three stripes. In the case of graduate diplomas, the epitoge has four stripes.

COLOURS

The colour of the hood and epitoge relate to the Faculty which offers the programme as follows:

FACULTY	COLOUR OF HOOD OR EPITOGES
Church of Ireland College of Education (Education Programmes)	Blue
Dublin City University Business School including: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• MSc in Electronic Commerce (Business), ☒• BA in International Business and Languages and International Marketing and Languages	Cream
Dublin City University Institute of Education	Blue
Faculty of Engineering and Computing - School of Computing	Grey
Faculty of Engineering and Computing - School of Engineering	Orange
Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences	White
Faculty of Science and Health	Green
Open Education	Russet