Capabilities in Education Network (CAEN) Seminar

Monday 13th May 2013, Room C135

9.30 -10am  Registration (C135)

10.00 -11am:  Introduction to the Human Development and Capabilities Approach

(Prof Alejandra Boni & Dr Veronica Crosbie)

11.00 - 11.30:  Coffee

11.30 - 1pm:  Short reports on capability-related research:

•  Cultivating Engineers' humanity: Fostering cosmopolitanism in a Technical University: Prof Alejandra Boni, Universidad Politécnica de Valencia;

•  New pedagogies for cosmopolitan citizenship: an ESOL case study: Dr Veronica Crosbie, Dublin City University

•  Mature students, risk and capabilities: Dr Veronica Kelly, Institute of Technology, Carlow

1 - 2pm:  Lunch

2 - 4pm:  3 extended research papers (20' presentation + 20' discussion each):

•  Capabilities Vs Competencies: Prof Alejandra Boni, Universidad Politécnica de Valencia

•  Towards an evaluative framework for the development of female academics on the academic labour market in Germany: Natalia Karmaeva, Universität Bielefeld

•  Students and employers: a capability study of Vocational Education and Training (VET) in Spain: Aurora Lopez Fogues, University of Nottingham

4 - 5pm:  Book launch C165 (Henry Grattan Building):

Human Development and Capabilities: Re-imagining the university of the twenty-first century, edited by Prof Alejandra Boni & Prof Melanie Walker, published by Routledge, April 2013 and launched by Dr Maeve O’Brien, St. Patrick's College, Dublin City University.

If you would like to register for the event, please contact Veronica Crosbie at veronica.crosbie@dcu.ie