

Ageing in Society

Module code: NS520

Meeting the challenges of an ageing population and developing age attuned health and social care practitioners

Who should apply:

Nurses or health and social care practitioners with an interest in understanding how health and social care systems can adapt to meet the challenges of population ageing.

Content and structure:

The module aims to examine the impact of ageing demography on health and social care systems and to assess the evidence base for models of care delivery, which lead to improved health and social care outcomes and positive experiences for older adults.

This stand-alone module delivered over a 12-week semester combines attendance at DCU and online learning activities. Assessment is carried out through continuous assessment.

Credit/Level: Level 9, 10 ECTS credits

Cost of module: €1,308

Application deadline: July 20th 2018

Commencing: September 2018

Application details available from:

T 353 (0) 1 700 8975

E science@dcu.ie

Find out more:

W dcu.ie/snhs/professional.shtml

E catriona.murphy@dcu.ie