

Sample Revision Checklist

Using your module specifications, past papers, lecture notes and readings materials, you can create a revision checklist for any exam. Divide the module into topics. You can then tick off the materials on each topic as your progress through them. Here is an example of a revision checklist for a first year module.

Module:	Social Psychology
Exam Length:	2 hours
Exam Structure:	4 essay questions, answer 2

Topic 1: The Self Lecture notes Tutorial Hogg & Vaughan (2010) chapter 2 Journal article Exam Papers 2016 2015	Topic 5: Prejudice Lecture notes Tutorial Hogg & Vaughan (2010) chapter 10 Journal article Exam Papers 2016 2015
Topic 2: Attitudes Lecture notes Tutorial Aronson (2011) chapter 5 Journal article Mason et al. (2014) Exam Papers 2016 2015	Topic 6: Prosocial Behaviour Lecture notes Tutorial Hogg & Vaughan (2010) chapter 14 Journal article Exam Papers 2016 2015
Topic 3: Group Processes Lecture notes Tutorial Myers (2012) chapter 8 Journal article Exam Papers 2016 2015	Topic 7: Aggression Lecture notes Tutorial Hogg & Vaughan (2010) chapter 12 Journal article Exam Papers 2016 2015
Topic 4: Social influence Lecture notes Tutorial Hogg & Vaughan (2010) chapter 7 Journal article Wills (2013) Exam Papers 2016 2015	Topic 8: Affiliation and Attraction Lecture notes Tutorial Hogg & Vaughan (2010) chapter 13 Journal article Exam Papers 2016 2015

Note: this is a fictional checklist for instruction purposes

DCU Student Learning